Archaeological Research Support Grant
Call for Applications 2026

The Société de Conservation du Littoral, d'Archéologie et de Géologie (SCHLAG) is a "Loi 1901" non-profit association whose main aim is to support archaeological research. It also contributes to local development through research and outreach activities that promote the archaeological heritage of coastal regions, both in Brittany and internationally.

The association offers annual funding of €1,000 to support a research project in archaeology or a closely related field.

In 2026, the association welcomes proposals from professionals, students, and amateurs conducting research on coastal archaeology of north-western Europe. Projects relating to applied geology in archaeology or the conservation of archaeological heritage are also eligible.

Applications must be submitted to asso-schlag@protonmail.com by december 31th 2026.

Application file (maximum 4 pages) must include:

-a presentation of the project
-a description of the planned activities
-a provisional budget, indicating any co-funding
-a short CV of the applicant

Eligible projects will be reviewed by an independent committee of archaeology professionals (both statutory and non-statutory).

Projects must comply with all legal and regulatory requirements in archaeology, including obtaining appropriate DRAC authorization.

Priority will be given to unfunded projects and/or applicants in financially precarious situations. Projects already receiving public funding will not be prioritized.

Recipients are expected to deliver a talk within two years of receiving the grant or contribute to a regional publication (strongly encouraged).

An acknowledgement of the SCHLAG association and its funding partners in all related communications and publications is demanded.

For more information, please contact us at the above email address.
The selected project and awarded amount will be announced by the first quarter of 2027.
